What's going on this week?

The Union Jack will be flown on UK Government buildings every day of the year under plans to celebrate the United Kingdom's heritage and pride. Ministers are set to issue new guidance this week to get the world-famous flag displayed all year round – not just on designated days. Under current guidance, the flag is only required to be flown on all UK Government buildings in England, Wales and Scotland on special days, such as the Queen's birthday.

Things to talk about at home...

- Aside from being used for countries, do you know any other organisations that use a flag? Are you part of one?
- How many different countries do you think you could identify?
- Why do you think flags are considered very important to some people?
