

Dining In Style!

This year's pandemic has caused many businesses to come up with innovative and creative ways to survive. One restaurant in Hungary is no exception to this. Costes, which is Michelin starred, decided to serve meals on the famous Budapest Eye ferris wheel! Restaurant owner, Karoly Gerendai said, 'Now that there are not many people, either on the wheel or in the restaurant, because there are no tourists, the opportunity arose that we could do this.' Dining on the ferris wheel means customers not only enjoy stunning views of Budapest and a delicious meal, they also remain COVID safe. They are served their meals in their own carriage, ensuring contact between customers is reduced. To enjoy this novel dining experience, the cost is 48,000 forints per person, which is equivalent to approximately £112.

Hidden amongst the branches of the enormous Rockefeller Christmas Tree, a tiny owl was transported 170 miles from his home - by accident! The tree was felled and placed in the back of a delivery truck but the driver was unaware that he was also carrying the tiny northern saw-whet owl. Because of its effective camouflage, the small bird of prey was not rescued until the Christmas tree was erected in the Rockefeller Center in New York. The bird was weak and dazed but after being examined by a vet, it was taken to the Ravensbeard Wildlife Center, where it made a full recovery. It was affectionately named Rocky. Ellen Kalish, founder of Ravensbeard said, 'Our hearts go out to all the 'behind the scenes' workers. Great job and thanks for rescuing 'Rockefeller'!' After treatment, the tiny owl was safely released back into the wild.

Record-breaker shares important message

The Guinness World Records have certified that Maci Currin, from Texas, has taken the world record for the longest female legs from Russia's, Ekaterina Lisina. Seventeen-year-old Maci stands at 6ft 10in (208cm) and has a right leg of 134.3cm and left leg of 135.3cm. As well as being a world record holder, Maci shares an important message to anyone with unusual physical attributes 'don't hide it, embrace it.' She told Guinness World Records that she was bullied for being tall but then, 'Around sophomore year I just stopped caring what people thought of me and once I just stopped caring I wasn't affected by anything.' Although Maci's long legs mean she struggles to get in cars, through certain doorways or find clothes that fit perfectly, they definitely come in handy whilst

Your thoughts on the news...

No we don't always have to be treated the same way because sometimes you have to be treated differently for example someone is sick and you have an eye problem you go to the doctor the doctor won't give you the same treatment because the problem is different.

Everybody should be treated equally and with dignity no matter what their circumstances; which means nobody should be treated in an inhuman or degrading way.
